

ASIAN UNIVERSITY
FOR WOMEN

Teaching Fellowship 2024-25

Asian University for Women

Asian University for Women (AUW), dedicated to the education, empowerment, and leadership development of highly talented women from across Asia and the Middle East, announces a Teaching Fellows Program. Because preferential selection of students is given to underserved populations, such as garment workers, Rohingya refugees, tea plantation workers, Afghans permitted by the Taliban to leave, et al., almost all of whom do not have the needed skills for the rigor of undergraduate work, Pre-Undergraduate Programs have been established at AUW. Approximately half of the students at AUW are in these preparatory programs. Fellows will teach English, math, or computer science for one year in the Pre-Undergraduate Programs and will supervise one extra-curricular activity each term. The year-long program begins mid-July.

Core Responsibilities

- Teach one year, beginning July 15, 2024
- Teach 9-15 contact hours per week from either:
 - English (Reading, Writing, Listening, Speaking)
 - Mathematics
 - Computer Science
- Oversee one extracurricular activity each term
- Other duties as assigned by the Director of Pre-Undergraduate Programs

Compensation and Benefits

- Stipend of US$1,000, paid monthly
- Round trip airfare to and from Chittagong
- Visa fees reimbursed upon arrival
- Health insurance/services
- A shared furnished faculty apartment
- Free access to dining halls
- Six-week Orientation, with emphasis on teacher training, prior to the start of classes
- In addition, AUW is exploring the option for 3-week Internship between fall and spring terms with a governmental or prominent nonprofit organization.

Desired Skills

- Recent college graduate with strong academic and extracurricular records
- Have an unmitigated passion for women's education and equity, and an interest in other cultures
- Native-like English fluency

Application Deadline: April 20, 2024

For more information and to apply:

<https://asian-university.org/academic-programs/pre-undergraduate-programs/teaching-fellowship/>

Questions: Contact Hannah Taylor:
Hannah.Taylor@asian-university.org