2011 – 2019	Associate Professor with tenure, Department of Psychology, Tufts University
2005 - 2011	Assistant Professor, Department of Psychology, Tufts University
2004 - 2005	Assistant Scientist, Department of Psychology, University of Wisconsin-Madison
2001 – 2004	Postdoctoral Associate, Department of Psychology, University of Wisconsin-Madison
	Mentor: Richard J. Davidson, Ph.D.

EDUCATION

2001	Doctor of Philosophy, Psychology (Clinical), University of Arizona
	Dissertation: Effortful inhibition of affective responses to pictures: Effects on central and peripheral physiology, Committee Chair: John J. B. Allen, Ph.D.
1996	Master of Arts, Psychology (Clinical), University of Arizona
	Thesis: Nonverbal synchrony and therapeutic alliance as predictors of outcome in the brief, behavioral treatment of insomnia, Committee Chair: Varda Shoham, Ph.D.
1991	Bachelor of Science, Psychology, University of Arizona

HONORS AND AWARDS

- Outstanding Faculty Contribution to Graduate Education, Graduate Student Council, Tufts University, April, 2019.
- Honorable Mention, Tufts Teaching with Technology Awards, IT Governance Sub-Committee on Teaching and Learning, April, 2017.
- Undergraduate Initiative in Teaching Award, Tufts University-wide award presented to "junior full-time faculty members who have demonstrated excellence in teaching and advising, concern for students' academic and personal growth, and the ability to convey a passion and enthusiasm for their field of study," May, 2008.
- Postdoctoral Fellowship, "Training Program in Emotion Research", Institutional NRSA Training Grant, NIMH (T32-MH18931, PI: Richard J. Davidson, Ph.D.), 2001-2003.
- Psi Chi Honorary, Undergraduate member, inducted 1990.

RESEARCH INTERESTS AND PERSONAL STATEMENT

- Selection, optimization, and compensation in the domain of emotion regulation.
- Individual differences in emotion and emotion regulation as predictors of performance under stress.
- Emotion regulation choice and success using laboratory tasks.
- Transparent, open science, and improving research practices in psychology

I am a clinical psychologist by training with specializations in affective neuroscience and psychophysiology. I direct the Emotion, Brain, & Behavior Laboratory at Tufts University in the Boston area. The aim of my research program is to delineate the neural and psychological mechanisms of emotion regulation. My colleagues and I (Urry & Gross, 2010; Opitz, Gross, & Urry, 2012) have developed a conceptual framework (Selection, Optimization, and Compensation with Emotion Regulation; SOC-ER) within which to consider how individuals choose emotion regulation strategies and the effectiveness of those strategies in the context of changing resources. With that framework, I study the strategies people choose to regulate their emotions and their ability (or inability) to carry out those strategies successfully in emotional contexts.

To address our research questions, we employ a range of measures. Our peripheral psychophysiology laboratory studies typically employ measures of subjective emotional experience, expressive behavior (e.g., corrugator muscle activity over the brow region), and autonomic physiology (e.g., electrodermal activity [EDA], electrocardiogram [ECG]), many of which are measures that are sensitive to the dynamic nature of emotional responding. We also use pupillometry to measure changes in pupil size as a function of cognitive processes and eye tracking technology to monitor the ways in which people allocate their attention to information in the emotion-provoking stimuli we use. Our neuroimaging work uses functional magnetic resonance imaging (FMRI) to examine neural correlates of relevant processes.

Undergraduate/Graduate Seminars

- Seminar in Affective Neuroscience
  - o F05, S06, S07, F07, F09, S11 (grad only), S13, F14, F18
- Seminar in Emotion, Stress, & Health
   S08, F10, S15 (grad only), F17 (grad only)

Graduate Seminar

Rigorous and Reproducible Research Practices

 S18

Current Trainees

Graduate Students, Experimental Psychology Ph.D. Program

- Victoria Floerke (2013 present)
- Undergraduate Academic Advising Approximately 25 psychology majors

Prior Trainees

Postdoc

- Sarah R. Cavanagh, Ph.D. (October, 2007 June, 2009)
- Andrew Thompson, Ph.D. (2016 2019), Center for Applied Brain and Cognitive Sciences.

Graduate students

- Gizem Altheimer, Ph.D., Experimental Psychology (September, 2014 July, 2019)
- Jeffrey L. Birk, Ph.D., Experimental Psychology (September, 2008 December, 2013)
