

The Tufts University Global Development and Environment Institute (GDAE) invites you to:

A Panel Discussion on Soil Health, Agriculture and Climate in New England

April 4th, 4-6 PM, the Terrace room at Paige Hall

Followed by a reception at the Tufts SEC Atrium, 200 College Ave

A team of food system advocates, including farmers, researchers, students and policymakers aim to launch a Soil Health Initiative to enhance and expand the regional system of soil management in New England States.

Featuring

Dr. Timothy Griffin, Tufts Friedman School
Ellen Griswold, Maine Farmland Trust
Julie Davenson, Executive Director of Stonewall Farms
Didi Pershouse, Author of "The Ecology of Care"
Sylvain Maestracci, French Embassy in Washington D.C.

This event is sponsored by the 4per1000 Initiative – Soils for Food Security and Climate, the Consulate General of France in Boston, and the Tufts Institute of the Environment

