

INCLUSIVE PARTICIPATION ASSESSMENT RUBRIC

		SCORE (1 TO 5)
1- Asked questions of genuine curiosity that deepened an understanding of other’s ideas in ways that built interest, trust, dignity and value into our conversations.
Personal Comments: -----
2- Shared your personal narrative and insights with a low concern for claiming intellectual status or without the need to be highly-regarded by others (i.e., absence of vanity).
Personal Comments: -----
3- Displayed a respect for your peers by not overestimating the appeal of your own views in the face of alternative views expressed by others.
Personal Comments: -----
4- Shared your personal narrative and insights about something meaningful in your life that supported and deepened an understanding of an issue and gently encouraged others to delve deeper into their worlds.
Personal Comments: -----

5- Shared your narrative, insights and accomplishments in ways that do not show a low concern for self (i.e., self-effacing) but do show an equal concern for narrative, insights and accomplishments shared by others (i.e., self-equalizing).

Personal Comments:

6- Shared your perspective with humility, by balancing principled commitments to your beliefs with an openness to new ideas, contradictory information, or being wrong.

Personal Comments:

7- Shared your personal narrative with a relatively low self-focus while maintaining an accurate assessment of your abilities and accomplishments.

Personal Comments:

8- Expressed your concerns about alternative opinions, complaints or criticisms from your peers without being overconfident, brash, or flaunting a sense of certainty or assurance.

Personal Comments:

9- Expressed views about the intellect of others without feeling entitled to the intellectual privilege of your own accomplishments, so you are better able to give your peers the credit they deserve.
Personal Comments: <hr/>
10- Able to consider complaints and criticisms seriously by being willing to “own” your intellectual limitations by not dismissing criticism but rather by being responsive to it.
Personal Comments: <hr/>
11- Asked questions/made comments that indicated a degree of comfort with complex scientific information allowing you to contribute to the conversation on your own terms.
Personal Comments: <hr/>
12- Asked questions/made comments that brought out diverse sides of an issue (ie. hopes vs. fears) to help see difference where you only saw commonality and see commonality where you only saw difference.
Personal Comments: <hr/>
13- Shared aspects of your identity that could be closely understood by others, so they could meet you where you are “coming from” with empathy and curiosity.
Personal Comments: <hr/>		