

The Tufts Literacy Corps presents
Literacy & the Arts

One-on-One Tutoring in the Context of an Extraordinarily Fun Summer Day.

Two Week Science Camp - July 8 to July 19:

Do your kids love to play with worms and slugs? Take flowers apart to see what's inside? Explore the unseen by peering through a microscope? Build rockets? During this science week, writing will revolve around the science project of your child's choice. This is not a "one size fits all" experience. Every morning, your child will work with his or her own tutor on an individualized project. The rest of the day? A lot of fun with outdoor sports, swimming, games, art projects and new friends of all ages.

Literacy and the Arts – July 22 to August 9

During this three-week session, our focus turns to art and creative writing. The children continue to work with their tutors every morning, as we use art, literature and drama to inspire them to express themselves on paper. We will also work with you to create an individualized tutoring agenda that supports your child's particular learning needs. Our talented tutors help children read more fluently, practice handwriting, learn to type and memorize times tables.

Again, our afternoons are simply fun. An energetic crew of Tufts athletes, scientists, drama leaders and artists are on hand to play with your children. They will engage the children in sports on the Tufts fields, entertain them with hilarious drama games and, accompany them to the pool. We give children a wide range of choices, so our summer afternoons are easy going and engaging. What better way to spend the not so lazy days of summer?
